Little Moses Jones

The 90s and 2000s R&B and hip-hop party your whole crowd knows by heart, live from Denver.

About

Little Moses Jones is a six-piece Denver band playing the 90s and 2000s R&B and hip-hop everybody knows the words to. From the first song, the dance floor fills up and the whole room sings along to the hits they grew up on.

We play weddings, corporate events, private parties, festivals, casinos and concert series, and we've done events for Google, Pearson and the Denver Broncos. The show is clean and right for every generation in the room, and we build every setlist around the crowd.

We come fully self-contained with our own sound engineer, so there's no separate audio company to hire. For weddings we can also cover ceremony and cocktail-hour music with our jazz trio, so one booking handles the whole day, and our emcee Bad Juju can run announcements and keep the night moving.

Based in Denver and booking nationwide for 2026 and 2027.
