Silver Stallion

Tribute to The HighwayMen

About

Silver Stallion is the ultimate tribute to The Highwaymen, bringing to life the unforgettable sound and spirit of country music's most legendary supergroup. With uncanny vocal and physical resemblances to Johnny Cash, Willie Nelson, Waylon Jennings, and Kris Kristofferson, Silver Stallion doesn't just perform the music—they embody the legacy.

Their show transports audiences back to the golden era of outlaw country, performing the timeless songs that made The Highwaymen icons. From the powerful #1 hit "Highwayman" to crowd favorites like "Silver Stallion" and "Desperados Waiting for a Train," the band captures the raw energy and camaraderie that defined the original group.

But Silver Stallion goes beyond the hits of the supergroup—they also honor each member's solo legacy. Audiences can expect moving renditions of Johnny Cash's "Folsom Prison Blues" and "Ring of Fire," Willie Nelson's "On the Road Again" and "Blue Eyes Crying in the Rain," Waylon Jennings' "Luckenbach, Texas" and "Mammas Don't Let Your Babies Grow Up to Be Cowboys," and Kris Kristofferson's "Me and Bobby McGee" and "Sunday Mornin' Comin' Down."

Whether you're a lifelong fan or discovering the music for the first time, Silver Stallion delivers an unforgettable night of storytelling, soul, and song. Their passion, authenticity, and musicianship make them a must-see tribute that keeps the legend of The Highwaymen alive for a new generation
