About

The purpose of a tribute band is to let a new generation experience the sights and sounds of the past, a moment in time that the original artist either can't or will not give a present day audience. If you were not able to experience a “The Cure” concert in the 1980's, you can now re-live one of the most exciting and influential acts of the decade by attending a performance by The Cured – The 1980's “The Cure” Experience.

The Cured is a Southern California based realistic rendition of the 80's super band The Cure. The band performs a true to era 1989 Cure concert complete with costumes, lights, effects and of course the songs. The show was a hit from its first performance

The Cured has soon made the transition from being a Southern California band to becoming a national act. The band seems to have momentum reminiscent of Beatlemania when they first came out. The Cured has completed several tours across the USA and abroad. Venues of note include headlining at several of the world famous House of Blues, The Universal (Gibson) Amphitheatre in Los Angeles, Norva in Norfolk Virgina, The National in Richmond, The Highline Ballroom in New York City and The Abbey in Chicago.

Any venue who books The Cured can count on exceptional attendance and customer satisfaction.The Cured draws large crowds wherever they play and it is common for the audience to get swept away in the moment. The crowds love to hear all the hit songs that they all know and love and usually will be dancing and singing throughout the entire show.

If you can't see The Cure or want to relive the magic of the 80's then The Cured can provide the next best thing. Book The Cured for your next corporate event, festival, wedding or 80's party.
